Antipoverty Bill Nears House OK

Shriver Promises To Keep Watch On City Actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver promises Congress he'll keep a close watch on the way cities carry out a controversial proposal to put community antipoverty programs under public control.

The director of the Office of Economic Opportunity sent the assurance to Congress as the House prepared to vote today on a two-year extension of the anti-poverty program.

The bill, a compromise between earlier House and Senate versions, would authorize $1.98 billion for the current fiscal year and $2.18 billion next year. The House is expected to send it to the White House, ending a long, rough trip through Congress.

Although the bill makes many changes in administration and operation of the three-year-old program, most debate has centered around a House-adopted provision to permit states or local governments to designate themselves as Community Action agencies.

Nearly all the agencies which receive and allocate federal funds for various programs are private although public officials generally serve on their governing boards.

When the Senate passed the measure 62 to 16 Friday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the House provision would turn the program over to politicians. Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said it would be emasculated.

Riot Probe Report Set By March 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House panel probing last summer's uprisings says it will submit its recommendations for preventing future riots at least four months ahead of schedule.

"Our review of the information we have amassed over more than four months convinces us that we cannot delay until next summer in providing our findings of fact and recommendations," said a Sunday statement by panel chairman, Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, and vice chairman, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

The 11-man President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders originally was scheduled to make its report and recommendations by July 29.

The Kerner-Lindsay statement moved that target date up to March 1—original deadline for an interim report—and a commission spokesman said the report may be ready even sooner.

YMCA Program Becoming Reality

After months of planning and work by a steering committee, the establishment of a YMCA program for Pickaway County is fast becoming a reality.

Candidates are now being interviewed for a secretary's position by the committee. The committee consists of Mrs. E. R. Bennett, John Jenkins, Mrs. Jeanne Bach, Robert Johnson and William Shockley.

The Columbus "Y" through the national YMCA office has sent biography and appraisal forms to the local group on eight professional "Y" people as applicants for the secretary's job.

Interviews are being conducted now and it is hopeful a candidate will be selected from the list before Christmas.

AFTER the decision is reached to hire a secretary, a spokesman said, the new Pickaway County YMCA secretary should "be on the job" by Feb. 1, 1968.

Initial headquarters for the secretary will be located in the Red Cross building at Pickaway and Watt Sts. Office furniture has already been donated. Memberships will be sold after Feb. 1. Charter memberships will be solicited beginning Jan. 1. These are considered "founders' memberships which entitle the bearer to the same privileges as regular memberships.

More information will be made available as the study work is concluded within the next three weeks.

Review State Management

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 400 deputy directors, division chiefs and agency heads met today for a review of state management methods under a balanced budget.

Finance Director Richard L. Krabach and Personnel Director Wayne Ward were the main speakers for the session in the youth center at the Ohio Exposition Grounds.

They detailed management methods for state operations previously outlined to cabinet members in line with an administration program for continued progress without spending beyond revenues.

"Carry out this policy," Krabach admonished. "We are not going to permit anyone to operate loosely."

Krabach said no increase is expected in taxes for state operations "and we don't expect to have any."

Woman Succumbs To Crash Injuries

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Lillie Mae Boyd, 67, of Akron died in the General Hospital Sunday from injuries received in an auto accident Dec. 5.

Mrs. Boyd was a passenger in a car which collided with another vehicle in nearby Northampton Township.

Rhodes Eyes Remap Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A big problem awaited Gov. James A. Rhodes, due back in his office today following an 8,000-mile trip around the country.

The governor kicked off the trip last Monday and had barely gotten out of town when the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that Ohio's present districting for its 24 congressmen is invalid.

The Ohio Legislature redistricted the state in 1964 and due to the high court ruling, may end up with the job again.

Gov. Rhodes, on his return Saturday, said no decision would be made on a special legislative session until he had conferred with House and Senate leaders.

Put Pressure On Draft Law Violators

WASHINGTON (AP) — In putting the heat on draft law violators the Justice Department may also be re-establishing the line between criminal prosecution and administrative enforcement—a line which critics of draft chief Lewis B. Hershey say he tried to erase.

Hershey and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark announced jointly Saturday the Justice Department has directed all U.S. attorneys to speed up draft law prosecutions and has set up a special coordinating unit to help them.

In an Oct. 26 letter to local draft boards, Lt. Gen. Hershey recommended—he is not legally authorized to order—that the boards lift the deferment of anyone interfering with the draft or military recruiting and put such persons at the top of the induction list. The rule was felt to be aimed principally at college students.

Hershey said at a Nov. 8 news conference: "If the Department of Justice wants to prosecute him we'll certainly yield jurisdiction."

That is what the Justice Department says it now intends to do, as quickly as possible.

Daniel O. Omer, deputy director and general counsel of the Selective Service System, said in a Sunday telephone interview that once the Justice Department takes an alleged violation to court, the case would be out of the hands of the draft board. "Once a violator is convicted," Omer said, "he's classified 4-F—unqualified for military service—until he's finished his prison sentence, then his classification is reopened and he is put in any class he's eligible for."

High Court Knocks Out Ban on Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declared unconstitutional today a section of federal law that bars members of Communist-action groups from working in defense plants.

The provision, a section of the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, "is an unconstitutional abridgment of the right of association protected by the First Amendment," said Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Continuing in the 6-2 decision, Warren wrote: "The statute quite literally establishes guilt by association alone, without any need to establish that an individual's association poses the threat feared by the government in prescribing it. The inhibiting effect on the exercise of First Amendment rights is clear."

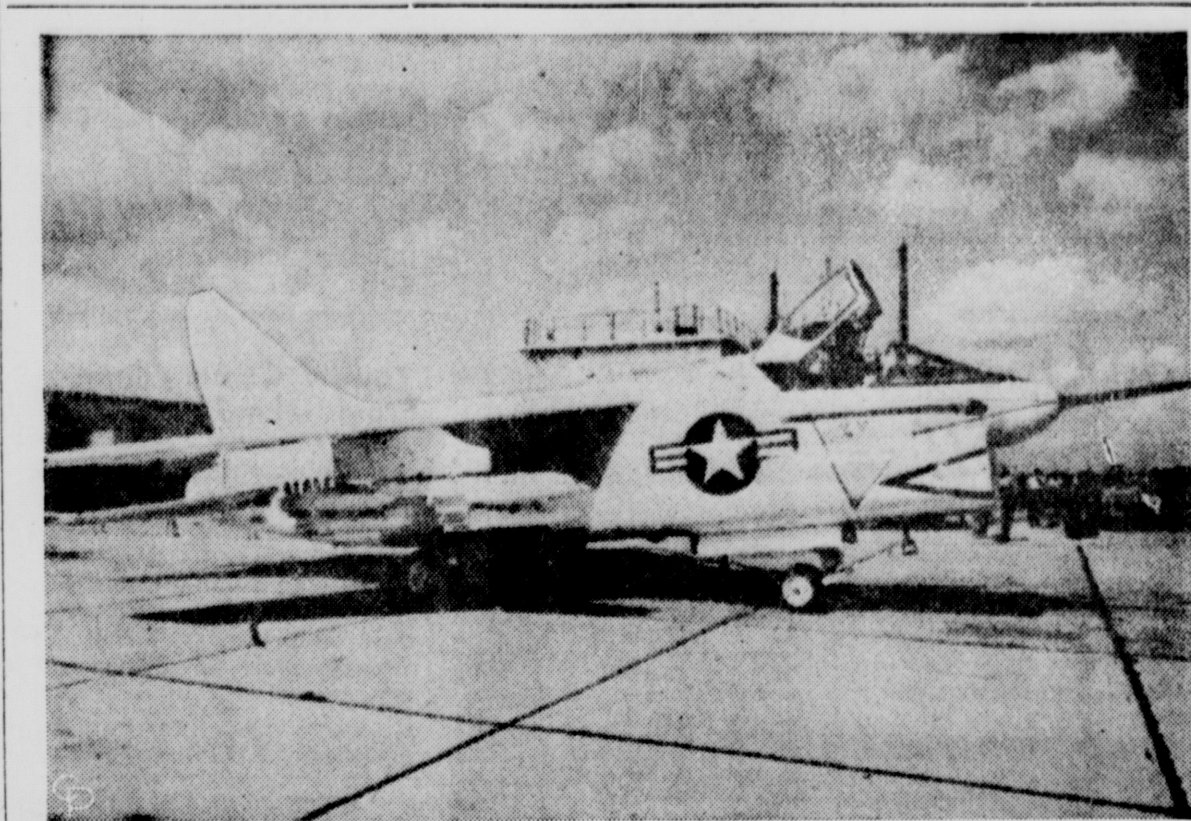

Mihlbaugh Quits Post with SBA

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert H. Mihlbaugh today confirmed announcement of his resignation as a member of the National Advisory Council of the Small Business Administration.

The Lima, Ohio, attorney in a recent letter to SBA Administrator Robert C. Moot said pressures of his practice and business interests brought about his resignation, effective immediately.

Mihlbaugh, 34, has served as advisory council member since June 1965. He was the youngest member ever appointed to the council.

McCarthy Plan To Give Reds Foothold Lambasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy suggests the United States should concede some areas of South Vietnam to the Viet Cong in a bid to generate peace talks.

The proposal by McCarthy, the Minnesota Democrat who plans an antiwar campaign challenge to President Johnson in four 1968 primaries, drew immediate fire Sunday from the administration.

Eugene M. Anderson, a U.S. representative to the U.N. General Assembly, said of McCarthy's proposal:

"I was surprised to hear him say that because I think that anyone who understands the Communists understands that you don't begin negotiating with Communists from a position of weakness if you want to negotiate seriously and expect to achieve anything by negotiations."

In an interview, Mrs. Anderson predicted ultimate U.S. success in Vietnam if the public shows the same perseverance.

"that the South Vietnamese are showing."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey also ruled out yielding to the Viet Cong control of land in South Vietnam.

"I think this struggle will be won in the countryside," he said. "This is why I have never believed in enclaves. And this is why I think that some of these gimmicks that have been devised have not really had much merit to them."

McCarthy said the Viet Cong has strongholds in some areas of South Vietnam, and suggested there are other areas the United States need not control.

"You let the Viet Cong come in, you see what happens and during that time you try to negotiate," he said.

The Minnesota Democrat also said the reported impending resignation of U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is evidence of U.S. reluctance to negotiate an end to the Vietnam war.

Postal Rate Hike Boon To Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final congressional action raising postal rates and the pay of federal workers is expected in time to give government employees a Christmas bonus: Salary boosts retroactive to Oct. 1.

Similar increases are in line for members of the military services under separate legislation.

The postal rate increases, affecting all classes of mail and increasing to 6 cents the cost of mailing a first-class letter, will not take effect until Jan. 7.

Two bills containing the increases—one covering postal rates and civilian employees and the other covering the military—are scheduled for House action today.

The Senate approved the military pay bill Friday, shortly after a compromise was reached. It is expected to move quickly on the postal measure so President Johnson's signature can put the machinery into motion to include the retroactive increases in the next paychecks of government workers.

The postal-pay bill, glued together by the House Post Office Committee in an effort to make it veto-proof, exceeds Johnson's recommendations, both in the cost of the pay boosts and in the revenue expected from new postal rates.

But the President is expected to sign it.

Romney Arrives In Great Britain

LONDON (AP)—Gov. George Romney arrived today for two days of talks with British leaders and said he expects "to get the British viewpoint on a number of matters—Vietnam, international monetary affairs, European-American problems and the Common Market."

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination came from Paris, the first stop on a world tour.

Power Plant Knocked Out By Temblor

BOMBAY (AP) — A severe earthquake shook a large stretch of western India before dawn today, and the Maharashtra state government said 65 persons were killed in the Koyana area 200 miles south of Bombay.

Bombay newspapers received a report from the area that more than 100 persons were killed, most of them when their homes collapsed on them as they slept.

The government said 1,000 persons were injured and 5,000 were homeless.

The report from the state government, said most of the casualties occurred near Koyana-gar, a town of 10,000 built for workers at the giant Koyana hydroelectric dam and plant.

The government said the Koyana dam was not damaged but another hydroelectric plant at Khopoli, between Bombay and Poona, was put out of commission.

This knocked out electric service to several thousand square miles, including Bombay and its population of 4.5 million. In the metropolis hundreds of thousands poured into the streets and spent the rest of the night in the open.

Lynda, Robb Honeymoon On Islands

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — President Johnson's daughter Lynda and his new son-in-law honeymooned today in the privacy of one of the Virgin Islands' most exclusive resorts after the first White House wedding in 53 years.

Lynda and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb spent their wedding night at the White House, then slipped aboard a commercial airliner Sunday afternoon and flew to San Juan, P.R. A private plane took them to St. Thomas, and then they had a 15-minute boat ride to St. John, three miles east of St. Thomas, where they are staying at the Caneel Bay Plantation.

A rumor persisted that the couple would go on to Hawaii, but there was no confirmation. Robb has leave from his military duties until Dec. 29.

Both Lynda and her mother have visited at the Caneel Bay home of millionaire Laurence S. Rockefeller, who has developed the northeast tip of the nine-mile-long island as an exclusive resort.

While the newlyweds relaxed in the Caribbean, Mrs. Johnson planned to fly to Texas today to join the President at their ranch. He flew down Saturday night after the wedding, saying he was "very tired."

Florida Twisters Kill 2; Loss High

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Roaring tornadoes shattered Sunday morning quiet in 10 Florida panhandle cities, leveling hundreds of homes and buildings and killing two persons. One twister hit an Alabama border county.

More than 200 were reported injured in Florida, most in a housing area at nearby Tyndall Air Force Base and at Fort Walton Beach 60 miles west of Panama City. Several were in critical condition. A watchman at a wrecked shopping center was reported missing.

Officials estimated damages at more than $7 million. Gov. Claude Kirk asked federal help for what he termed a disaster area.

Helmeted National Guardsmen toting rifles patrolled the cities and highways to prevent looting, turned back sightseers and helped in the massive cleanup.

Kirk toured the Bayou Wood section of Fort Walton Beach Sunday hours after a twister spun off from a violent thunderstorm had smashed 50 homes at 3 a.m.

As the storm bounced over a lake and tore a five-mile long swath it left 220 homes wrecked.

Five hours later another funnel ripped into a row of duplex homes at the housing area for Air Force families, flattening 30 of them and damaging 24 others, leaving one dead, nine seriously hurt and about 400 persons homeless. That tornado touched down five more times before fizzling out.

Damage was estimated in the Fort Walton Beach area at more than $5 million by Okaloosa County Sheriff Ray Wilson and at $1.5 million to housing at Tyndall by public information officer Hank Harsham.

Water, gas, electricity and telephone service was cut off in the northwest section of Fort Walton Beach.

Tornadoes also hit at small towns between Panama City and Pensacola 150 miles west.

One twister smashed into the Alabama coastline, damaging homes at Mifflin and raking a boatyard in Bon Secour, Ala., where the uninsured loss was estimated at $20,000.

Three-year-old Joan Coker, one of six children dug out of the wreckage of their Fort Walton Beach home, died at Eglin Air Force Base Hospital Sunday where her mother gave birth to her seventh child during the storm, hospital officials said.

The parents were identified only as M. Sgt. and Mrs. H. Coker. Officials said the Cokers' two-story home was leveled by the twister.

Loveta Byrd, 29, the wife of M. Sgt. Jerry J. Byrd, died of a crushed skull and her husband was critically injured when their two-family home splintered before the tornado at Tyndall.

A six-month-old baby adopted by the Byrds two weeks earlier was asleep in the same bedroom but was unharmed.

Slain Girl May Be An Ohioan

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—An Ohio optometrist and his wife were reported planning to fly to Florida today to see if their daughter is one of two murder victims pulled from Whiskey Creek Friday.

Dr. and Mrs. Louis T. Kent of Amberley, a suburb of Cincinnati, are expected to view the body of a woman identified by her former husband as Terry Rae Kent, 23.

The other victim, who police say was younger than Miss Kent, has been tentatively identified only as Miss Kent's roommate named Ann.

Police believe that Miss Kent may have been killed because she witnessed the death of her teen-aged companion.

"There is little doubt," one detective said, "that whoever killed the younger woman wanted to make sure that the other woman—apparently a witness to the killing—was also dead."

The younger woman was shot with a small caliber bullet.

Boaters discovered one of the bodies late Friday night when they saw the feet floating on the surface of the water in the creek that was once a hideout for rum-runners.

The other body was found by police who probed the area from a launch.

Lynda, Robb Honeymoon On Islands

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — President Johnson's daughter Lynda and his new son-in-law honeymooned today in the privacy of one of the Virgin Islands' most exclusive resorts after the first White House wedding in 33 years.

Lynda and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb spent their wedding night at the White House, then slipped aboard a commercial airliner Sunday afternoon and flew to San Juan, P.R. A private plane took them to St. Thomas, and then they had a 15-minute boat ride to St. John, three miles east of St. Thomas, where they are staying at the Caneel Bay Plantation.

A rumor persisted that the couple would go on to Hawaii, but there was no confirmation. Robb has leave from his military duties until Dec. 29.

Both Lynda and her mother have visited at the Caneel Bay home of millionaire Laurence S. Rockefeller, who has developed the northeast tip of the nine-mile-long island as an exclusive resort.

While the newlyweds relaxed in the Caribbean, Mrs. Johnson planned to fly to Texas today to join the President at their ranch. He flew down Saturday night after the wedding, saying he was "very tired."

Florida Twisters Kill 2; Loss High

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Roaring tornadoes shattered Sunday morning quiet in 10 Florida panhandle cities, leveling hundreds of homes and buildings and killing two persons. One twister hit an Alabama border county.

More than 200 were reported injured in Florida, most in a housing area at nearby Tyndall Air Force Base and at Fort Walton Beach 60 miles west of Panama City. Several were in critical condition. A watchman at a wrecked shopping center was reported missing.

Officials estimated damages at more than $7 million. Gov. Claude Kirk asked federal help for what he termed a disaster area.

Helmeted National Guardsmen toting rifles patrolled the cities and highways to prevent looting, turned back sightseers and helped in the massive cleanup.

Kirk toured the Bayou Wood section of Fort Walton Beach Sunday hours after a twister spun off from a violent thunderstorm had smashed 50 homes at 3 a.m.

As the storm bounced over a lake and tore a five-mile long swath it left 220 homes wrecked.

Five hours later another funnel ripped into a row of duplex homes at the housing area for Air Force families, flattening 30 of them and damaging 24 others, leaving one dead, nine seriously hurt and about 400 persons homeless. That tornado touched down five more times before fizzling out.

Damage was estimated in the Fort Walton Beach area at more than $5 million by Okaloosa County Sheriff Ray Wilson and at $1.5 million to housing at Tyndall by public information officer Hank Harsham.

Water, gas, electricity and telephone service was cut off in the northwest section of Fort Walton Beach.

Tornadoes also hit at small towns between Panama City and Pensacola 150 miles west.

One twister smashed into the Alabama coastline, damaging homes at Miflin and raking a boatyard in Bon Secour, Ala., where the uninsured loss was estimated at $20,000.

Three-year-old Joan Coker, one of six children dug out of the wreckage of their Fort Walton Beach home, died at Eglin Air Force Base Hospital Sunday where her mother gave birth to her seventh child during the storm, hospital officials said.

The parents were identified only as M. Sgt. and Mrs. H. Coker. Officials said the Cokers' two-story home was leveled by the twister.

Loveta Byrd, 29, the wife of M. Sgt. Jerry J. Byrd, died of a crushed skull and her husband was critically injured when their two-family house splintered before the tornado at Tyndall.

An area from Sura, 150 miles north of Bombay, to Goa, 300 miles to the South, and to Poonna, 120 miles to the east, was rocked by three tremors. The Bombay observatory said its seismograph went out when the power supply failed immediately after the first tremors.

In the last big quake in the area eight years ago, 110 persons were killed.

All-India Radio reported one death in Bombay, a man who was awakened by the rumble, rushed to a balcony and fell to the street. Little damage was reported in the city, but the power cut stopped heavily traveled urban trains and curtailed pumping of water.

The meteorological observatory in New Delhi said the shock had a magnitude of 7.5 on the Richter scale, sufficient to cause severe damage near the epicenter, which was located 70 miles south of Poonna.

All-India Radio said 80 per cent of the houses at Koyanagar were damaged.

Power transmission at the Koyana dam was stopped until an inspection was completed.

Congregation Foils Robbery Attempt

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A man and a woman wearing woolen ski masks interrupted a church sermon Sunday with an attempted holdup.

Both were captured by the congregation of the New Liberty Missionary Baptist church after the gunman fired a shot which ricocheted off the floor into the back of a pew.

James Morris, 28, a member of the congregation, was confronted by the pair when he had a coughing spell and stepped out the rear door of the church.

The man shoved a pistol against Morris' head and marched him down an aisle.

"The cause of Christ is in the church," the Rev. Ken Ashlock, the minister, was saying. "Surely the love of God abides there."

"The love of God is nowhere!" shouted the gunman. "Don't say another word, preacher."

The man and woman, urging Morris ahead of them, went up to the pulpit and the woman whispered to the minister: "We want all the take."

"The money's not here, it's in the office," replied the Rev. Mr. Ashlock, stepping out of the pulpit to show the way.

The woman marched the pastor down one aisle and her companion, holding his cocked pistol to Morris' head, walked down the other aisle.

As Morris and his captor neared the rear of the church, the gunman lowered his pistol.

Hugh English, a member of the congregation, leaped out of his seat in a back-row pew and grabbed with the gunman. The Rev. Mr. Ashlock sprinted over to help. A shot was fired.

As members of the congregation swarmed over the gunman, English jammed his right hand in front of the hammer of the pistol. The gunman snapped the revolver repeatedly but English's hand stopped it from firing.

Cliff Drisk, the church treasurer seized the woman and pinned her arms behind her. Then police were called.

Power Plant

An area from Sura, 150 miles north of Bombay, to Goa, 300 miles to the South, and to Poona, 120 miles to the east, was rocked by three tremors. The Bombay observatory said its seismograph went out when the power supply failed immediately after the first tremors.

In the last big quake in the area eight years ago, 110 persons were killed.

All-India Radio reported one death in Bombay, a man who was awakened by the rumble, rushed to a balcony and fell to the street. Little damage was reported in the city, but the power cut stopped heavily traveled urban trains and curtailed pumping of water.

The meteorological observatory in New Delhi said the shock had a magnitude of 7.5 on the Richter scale, sufficient to cause severe damage near the epicenter, which was located 70 miles south of Poona.

All-India Radio said 80 per cent of the houses at Koyanagar were damaged.

Power transmission at the Koyana dam was stopped until an inspection was completed.

Congregation Foils Robbery Attempt

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A man and a woman wearing woolen ski masks interrupted a church sermon Sunday with an attempted holdup.

Both were captured by the congregation of the New Liberty Missionary Baptist church after the gunman fired a shot which ricocheted off the floor into the back of a pew.

James Morris, 28, a member of the congregation, was confronted by the pair when he had a coughing spell and stepped out the rear door of the church.

The man shoved a pistol against Morris' head and marched him down an aisle.

"The cause of Christ is in the church," the Rev. Ken Ashlock, the minister, was saying. "Surely the love of God abides there."

"The love of God is nowhere!" shouted the gunman. "Don't say another word, preacher."

The man and woman, urging Morris ahead of them, went up to the pulpit and the woman whispered to the minister: "We want all the take."

"The money's not here, it's in the office," replied the Rev. Mr. Ashlock, stepping out of the pulpit to show the way.

The woman marched the pastor down one aisle and her companion, holding his cocked pistol to Morris' head, walked down the other aisle.

As Morris and his captor neared the rear of the church, the gunman lowered his pistol.

Prisoner Cuts Wrist

Carl Edward Halleck, who was transferred to the Pickaway County Jail Friday pending his first degree murder trial, was treated for an apparently self-inflicted laceration of the wrist at Berger Hospital Sunday.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, Halleck broke a special "security razor" used by prisoners to shave. He slashed his wrist with the blade he obtained from the razor.

The cut required two stitches. Sheriff Radcliff noted today that Halleck is being confined to his cell on the first floor of the jail.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: On their way to find the Pigwidgen, Claus and the elf come upon a sleeping giant. Tweedleknives foolishly wakes the giant who starts after them in a rage.

CHAPTER EIGHT THE DONKEY

"Run for your life!" shouted Claus. He tore down the far side of the mountain.

"I'm coming! I'm coming!" sputtered Tweedleknives, leaping after Claus. He lurched over a rock and went slipping, sprawling, tumbling head over heels until he came to a stop standing on his head with both legs wrapped around a tree.

Opening his upside-down eyes he saw the head of the giant looming over the top of the mountain. The giant grinned.

"Help!" bellowed Tweedleknives.

Claus turned and saw the giant reaching out to snatch the elf in his gargantuan fist. His heart pounding, Claus unshouldered the bow the elves had given him to kill the Pigwidgen. He shot the magic arrow into the heart of the giant.

In wrath, the witch blew powder in Tweedleknives' face.

The earth quaked and the mountain tottered when the great giant fell. Tweedleknives leaped to his feet and slid down the mountainside to Claus.

"You've done it!" he cried admiringly. "You've killed a giant!"

"Yes," said Claus gravely. "But I've used the magic arrow and it cannot be used again."

"Pooh!" exclaimed Tweedleknives. "You've three more weapons. There's no need to worry."

Then he and Claus continued on their way. The farther north they went the colder the wind blew. One day they met a witch huddled by the side of the road.

"Good day," said Claus. "Can you tell me please if this is the way to the place where the Pigwidgen dwells?"

"I'll tell you nothing," rasped the witch.

"Aren't you cold sitting there?" demanded Tweedleknives.

"Fie on you!" snapped the witch and she covered her head with her cloak.

Claus and Tweedleknives went on their way. They had not gone far when Tweedleknives said angrily, "She can't talk to me that way. I'm going back and tell her a thing or two."

The witch withdrew her head from the cloak and Tweedleknives said, "You were very rude just now. You should apologize."

"It could be," said Tweedleknives huffily, "that if you acted nicer you would look nicer."

The witch rose in wrath. She reached under her cloak and drew out a handful of powder. She blew the powder in Tweedleknives' face and muttered, "That's for being a butinsky!"

Tweedleknives threw his hands over his face. He felt his jaw dropping and his teeth jutting over his lips and his ears growing long and hairy. In a moment he was turned into a donkey and the witch had disappeared.

Claus had continued on his way. He was astonished when a donkey came up behind him and nudged his shoulder.

Claus looked around for Tweedleknives but there was no sign of the elf. "Tweedleknives!" he shouted. "Look what's here!"

The donkey threw back his great long head and brayed mournfully.

"What can be the matter?" wondered Claus.

The donkey pawed the snow with his hoof. Claus looked down and saw he had stamped out two words: "It's me."

"Who?" cried Claus in confusion. And then he groaned, "Oh, no," has he finally understood?

Man Held In Slaying

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—A father of seven children is being held for investigation in the shotgun death of another man, also the father of seven, Fairfield County deputy sheriff Dan Berry said Sunday night.

Buchanan was killed Saturday night by a blast from a 16-gauge shotgun, Berry said. His body was found in a parking lot outside a bar in Canal Winchester.

The sheriff said Conrad told Sommers that his wife was in the car and that she was dead.

Christmas Parties

Christmas parties for employees, while still numerous, will again show a small decline this year, according to a Wall Street Journal survey. They have been slowly declining for a decade or more.

There are two reasons — the novelty has worn off and costs have ballooned. Years ago a company could throw of a few dollars a head. In comparison, today's costs can be astronomical.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

During the first week of life a baby cries an average of 2½ hours a day—or about half the time a grownup yowls about having to go back to work on Mondays.

A flea can leap 200 times its own length. If you could do that, you could jump four times the length of a football field. Coach Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers would probably be glad to sign you up for $100,000 a year.

Transplantation of human kidneys and hearts has made big news in medical circles in the Western world. But in the Soviet Union, where it has long been dangerous for a fellow to stick his chin out too far, doctors have concentrated on lower jaws. They've successfully transplanted 169 of them. The operations have restored a normal look to the faces of patients and enabled them to chew successfully.

Even if you are a pauper, lawyers say, you should still make out a will. Why? Well, for example, should you be killed in an accident, the heirs named in your will might be able to file a lawsuit and collect enough dough to make them remember you with gratitude. Lawyers do think of everything, don't they?

Feet look simple, but they aren't. And it's no wonder they ache. They contain a fourth of all the bones in the human body.

Quotable notables: "One cannot be deeply responsive to the world without being saddened very often."—Dr. Eric Fromm.

Brace up: A good posture may help you to get ahead on your job. Psychologists say that posture often mirrors emotions, and a droopy head and sagging shoulders may reveal a defeated, worried mind. Your boss is less likely to promote you if you look like you can't cut the mustard.

Test: We are so complacent in our prosperity that probably 95 out of 100 Americans no longer can list the seven deadly sins. In case you want to paste them in your hat as a guide to better living, here they are: lust, envy, anger, gluttony, sloth, avarice and vanity. How many are you guilty of in any 24-hour period?

Bereft: Science has confirmed the old romantic idea that people can die of a broken heart. A study reported by the Canadian Medical Journal found that widowers are far more likely to suffer coronary attacks than married men the same age whose wives are still alive.

Worth remembering: "There are two kinds of men who never amount to much—those who cannot do what they are told, and those who can do nothing else."

Tip to parents: Giving a child the right name can be important to his welfare. Experts say the wrong choice of names leads to emotional disturbance later in some children. Names unpopular with boys at present, they say, include Chauncey, Horace, Aloysius, Percy and Cuthbert. Among names disliked by girls are Hildegard, Pansy, Agatha, Hilda, Beulah, Mathilde, and Alfreda.

NEW YORK (AP) — Viewers may complain a bit these days about the "sameness" of television—The same old plots, the same old jokes, the same old faces. Maybe that is partly true, but there was a particularly interesting demonstration of diversity of programming over the weekend.

Anyone with a television set and access to a network channel on Saturday could have been the next best thing to an invited guest at the White House wedding of Lynda Bird Johnson. And it was a lovely, dignified wedding complete with radiant bride, handsome, uniformed bridegroom and beaming proud parents.

Sunday afternoon there was the usual choice of political interviews and football games. In the evening, viewers all over the country could have watched a live and lively number from the current stage hit, "Hello Dolly!" and then seen Ed Sullivan walking out into a rainy New York street to unveil the marquee of a theater renamed in his honor.

This was immediately followed by excerpts from the famous Christmas show of the Radio City Music Hall in New York, a show which each holiday season results in long lines of patiently waiting people.

Then, on the educational network there was a violinist Yehudi Menuhin and Indian sitarist Ravi Shankar playing a duet during a concert in the United Nations General Assembly hall.

Sullivan on CBS was having a premature celebration of 20 years in television. It was an arbitrary date for the anniversary show since his first television broadcast took place in June 1948. But by June 1968, the Sullivan show will have gone into summer reruns.

Aside from the appearance of Pearl Bailey—one of his first guests—in the "Hello, Dolly!" number, there was little in the program's entertainment portion to mark the anniversary. Alan King fuming about the outstretched hands of the holiday season; Gwen Verdon in an elaborate dance number; Robert Merrill in an operatic aria, and Wayne and Shuster in a sketch. But there were celebrities in the audience and the mayor of the city presided over the theater dedication ceremonies.

The Music Hall spectacle, made a year ago, was a valiant attempt to overcome the camera problems posed by a big, busy show on a big stage. The settings were beautiful, the costumes lovely in color. But to show the whole it was necessary to move the camera back so far the performers looked like ants. There seemed to be no way of capturing the marvelous precision of the famous kinking.

Recommended tonight: "Winged World," CBS 7:30-8:30 EST, another in the National Geographic Society specials; "Movin' With Nancy," NBC, 8-9, Nancy Sinatra's first special with assists from Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., and her father, Frank Sinatra.

THERE'S a promising career ahead for Boze Richardson, just elected to the Racine Liars' Club. The story that won Boze his nomination to the club concerned the wood-carver whose birds were so lifelike the Museum of Natural History bought his full year's output. Then, one afternoon, he painted four of his newly carved redheaded woodpeckers and set them up to dry. While he was having lunch, the family cat sneaked up and ate two of them, and then before his very eyes, the other two flew away.

A prominent citizen of Tel-Aviv likes to tell of the day he looked up a Chinese rabbi in Hong Kong and announced, "I've come here to see the Crown Colony straight from my home in Israel." The Chinese rabbi looked him over with obvious distrust and announced, "Hmph! You don't LOOK Jewish!"

One of those indefatigable researchers on the staff of the New Yorker spotted this intriguing sign in the window of a Greenwich Village "art" center: "Forged Degas—Ten Cents Apiece."

Bright young lad: "Daddy, may I have fifteen cents for the old man who's crying?"
B.Y.L.'s father: "Sure, kid—but what's he crying about?"
B.Y.L.: "He's crying 'Hot dogs, fifteen cents apiece.'"

Is hypnosis ever used during childbirth?

The science of hypnosis is now recognized by the American Medical Association as a valuable tool when used by psychiatrists, psychologists, surgeons and physicians specially trained in its exact use. Hypnosis has finally attained its proper position as an art and science, having departed from its use as a parlor game or a theatrical presentation.

Dr. Stanley Perchard, a leading British obstetrician, and Dr. William Kroger of California are two of the leaders in the field of using hypnosis as an additional means of making childbirth more comfortable.

Hypnosis at no time is a substitute for the usual medications that relieve pain or induce anesthesia. It is a source of psychological support to the expectant mother during periods of anxiety.

In order to use hypnosis during this time the mother must be assured that there is no danger in its use by competent doctors. With this assurance many patient relax and become tranquil even during the last stages of childbirth.

Mothers trained in the art of natural childbirth find the same kind of relaxation during this time that might be offered with hypnosis.

Physicians know that not all of their pregnant patients are candidates for the natural childbirth technique. Those who use hypnosis find it very helpful in cases that are carefully chosen.

When George Romney of Michigan told a group of U. S. Orientalists (alleged) that he stood for welcoming Red China into the UN, this column remarked rather sorrowfully that someone had sold the Governor a year-old speech. This didn't sit so well with Romney, who explained in a rather thoughtful letter that he fully recognized Mao Tse-tung's ungentlemanly qualities. Elaborating on this, Romney said he was thinking in terms of the possible emergence of a future Peking government that would be willing to deal with the West on a live-and-let-live basis.

Well, okay. Let us say that when the leopard changes his spots, it may be sensible to treat him as a new and different animal. But isn't this a bit like saying that if we had some ham, we could have some ham and eggs, if we had some eggs?

While our own native-born Orientalists, so-called, are talking about a wholly problematical future in the history of East-West relations, the Republic of China on Taiwan, which represents 12 million present-day Chinese, engages in a diplomacy of the deed that contrasts starkly and realistically with the Romney approach. Seven years ago the Taiwan Chinese, recognizing that Africa might soon have thirty or more votes in the UN General Assembly, sent a pioneer agricultural mission to Liberia. By showing the Liberians how to double and even treble their yields of rice, they earned one supporting vote in the UN.

Since then the Taiwan Chinese have sent fifteen other agricultural missions to emergent African nations. The cost of doing this has been ridiculously small — just a few paltry dollars spent on air travel for 500 farm technicians, plus their salaries and money for tools, seeds and some return visits by Africans to have a look at Taiwan's own flourishing agriculture. Meanwhile the Red Chinese have spent millions trying to bribe African politicians, and Premier Chou En-lai has made four long trips through Africa to explain the money and energy they have spent on subversion in Africa, the Red Chinese have lost the argument. In gratitude for what the Taiwan Chinese agricultural missions have done, 14 out of 16 African nations which had received help in advancing their rice culture voted at the last UN showdown against seating Red China.

The tallies, when projected against the record of the Taiwan missions in Africa, should make interesting reading for Governor Romney if he wants to learn in detail how the outside world feels about the Red Chinese. Despite the fact that President de Gaulle's France voted to seat Red China in the UN and expel the Taiwan Chinese, the former French colonies in Africa refused to follow their old master. President Felix Houphouet-Boigny of the Ivory Coast remains on good terms with France, but he has gone out of his way to praise the Taiwan Chinese for teaching Ivory Coast farmers how to increase their rice production by five times the normal yield. The Taiwan Chinese, says President Houphouet-Boigny, have shown "our farmers that they had all the time been slumbering on a rich granary."

In Gabon, an agricultural co-operation agreement was signed with Taiwan in 1966. Gabon voted against welcoming Red China to the UN. In Rwanda, the Taiwan agricultural mission is about to help the local farmers to reclaim 1,000 hectares of land for rice, sugar cane, soybeans, and other crops. Rwanda voted against bringing Red China to the U.N. In Sierra Leone, the Taiwan Chinese are busy promoting land reclamation and oyster growing. Sierra Leone voted against seating Red China. In Niger, Cameroon, Upper Volta, Chad, Togo, Malawi, Madagascar, and the Congo (Kinshasa), Taiwan farm missions have been busy expanding the local rice culture. All of these African nations expressed their gratitude by voting against Red China at the UN. Of the African nations which have had help from Taiwan, only Senegal followed the lead of de Gaulle's France in the UN voting. Libya, which has been taught by Taiwan how to grow rice next door to the Sahara Desert, abstained from the voting, presumably out of deference to other Arab nations.

The Taiwan Chinese are practical diplomats. If the "newly emergent nations" prefer the Taiwan Chinese to the Peking Chinese, shouldn't that be good enough for the very practical George Romney?

NEW YORK (AP) — Soon after the New Year, Everett H. Hinton, a 66-year-old resident of Sun City, Ariz., interrupts the retirement he worked decades for in order to handle the problems of some strangers in far-off Cyprus.

As payment for uprooting himself from the serenity of retirement, Hinton and his wife will receive a daily living allowance, exposure to a foreign culture and the satisfaction of helping others. Nothing more.

Hinton, who spent 27 years with Montgomery Ward and on retirement was manager of merchandising and purchasing in New York, will lend his knowledge and advice to a Cypriot drygoods wholesaler and retailer.

The job, to last about three months, will cost the wholesaler about $1,000 a month, but Hinton will get none of it. Instead it will go to the International Executive Service Corps, which made the arrangements.

The corps, which most people know as the Executive Peace Corps or by the even more familiar term of Paunch Corps, already has completed 361 foreign assistance projects in less than three years and is expanding steadily.

In addition, 90 projects are under way, 69 are about to begin and many more are now being arranged in communications between Madison Avenue headquarters and private enterprises in 40 foreign nations.

All this has been accomplished on an annual budget of about $2 million, 40 per cent of which is donated by American corporations or received in service fees, and 60 per cent of which comes from the U.S. government.

"We feel we run a tight ship," said a spokesman for the corps, which is staffed by highly experienced personnel, headed by President Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and former chairman of General Dynamics.

A skills bank of 3,500 names is now maintained and added to as the result of personal applications, recommendations and more recently from recruiting drives among corporations.

From this bank the corps attempts to fill requests such as these:

—A records production manager to spend three or four months assisting a recording and tape manufacturer in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

—A production executive with experience in the manufacture of sewing machine needles to spend three months in Taipei, Taiwan.

—A glass technologist to help an Istanbul, Turkey firm go into the manufacture of windshields.

When the requests come in—and that is the only way in which the corps agrees to get involved—the following questions are asked:

—Is the requesting firm willing to pay a fee for assistance, a fee which amounts to only a small percentage of what would be charged by a private consultant, were he available?

—Is the client firm sound enough to profit from the help and advice?

—Will the firm's success be of probable benefit not only to itself but to the free enterprise system of its country?

Most of the requests came originally from Latin America. While interest there remains high, based on the number of requests through November, expansion in the Middle and Far East has been strong, and requests from African companies now are coming in.

Some people with light skin and a moderate amount of soft, fatty tissue beneath the skin tend to bruise more easily than others. A study in a great many of these people failed to reveal that a vitamin deficiency was the reason for the skin marks. There are some general medical conditions and vitamin deficiencies, due to malnourishment, that may be responsible in rare cases.

Expensive doses of Vitamin C, Vitamin K and folic acid have been used by many who are enthusiastic about them despite their total worthlessness. They offer almost no value at all for the prevention or the rapid absorption of these marks.

There are accurate ways to determine if a vitamin deficiency is present. Only then can the replacement of the deficient vitamin be advantageous.

Head injuries are too often neglected. They may result in permanent disability.

Science magazine says there is new evidence that man descended from a common ancestor that lived only five million years ago. The family has been quarreling ever since.

This theory is based on analysis of the blood molecules of man and apes. Blood will tattle.

The theory is that man's ancestor was to be found up a tree. The situation has not changed entirely.

Some people feel that these theories of man's past are sacreligious. We haven't got man's start settled, but we're all set for his finish.

The previous theory held that man's ancestor lived thirty million years ago. Maybe we don't go back as far as we thought, but we might.

We've come a long way in the five million years since our ancestors tore each other apart. We don't eat each other.

Does it bother you to know your ancestors were apelike? Look around.

Orientalists (alleged) that he stood for welcoming Red China into the UN, this column remarked rather sorrowfully that someone had sold the Governor a year-old speech. This didn't sit so well with Romney, who explained in a rather thoughtful letter that he fully recognized Mao Tse-tung's ungentelemanly qualities. Elaborating on this, Romney said he was thinking in terms of the possible emergence of a future Peking government that would be willing to deal with the West on a live-and-let-live basis.

Well, okay. Let us say that when the leopard changes his spots, it may be sensible to treat him as a new and different animal. But isn't this a bit like saying that if we had some ham, we could have some ham and eggs, if we had some eggs?

While our own native-born Orientalists, so-called, are talking about a wholly problematic future in the history of East-West relations, the Republic of China on Taiwan, which represents 12 million present-day Chinese, engages in a diplomacy of the deed that contrasts starkly and realistically with the Romney approach. Seven years ago the Taiwan Chinese, recognizing that Africa might soon have thirty or more votes in the UN General Assembly, sent a pioneer agricultural mission to Liberia. By showing the Liberians how to double and even treble their yields of rice, they earned one supporting vote in the UN.

Since then the Taiwan Chinese have sent fifteen other agricultural missions to emergent African nations. The cost of doing this has been ridiculously small — just a few paltry dollars spent on air travel for 500 farm technicians, plus their salaries and money for tools, seeds and some return visits by Africans to have a look at Taiwan's own flourishing agriculture. Meanwhile the Red Chinese have spent millions trying to bribe African politicians, and Premier Chou En-lai has made four long trips through Africa to explain the money and energy they have spent on subversion in Africa, the Red Chinese have lost the argument. In gratitude for what the Taiwan Chinese agricultural missions have done, 14 out of 16 African nations which had received help in advancing their rice culture voted at the last UN showdown against seating Red China.

The tallies, when projected against the record of the Taiwan missions in Africa, should make interesting reading for Governor Romney if he wants to learn in detail how the outside world feels about the Red Chinese. Despite the fact that President de Gaulle's France voted to seat Red China in the UN and expel the Taiwan Chinese, the former French colonies in Africa refused to follow their old master. President Felix Houphouet-Boigny of the Ivory Coast remains on good terms with France, but he has gone out of his way to praise the Taiwan Chinese for teaching Ivory Coast farmers how to increase their rice production by five times the normal yield. The Taiwan Chinese, says President Houphouet-Boigny, have shown "our farmers that they had all the time been slumbering on a rich granary."

In Gabon, an agricultural cooperation agreement was signed with Taiwan in 1966. Gabon voted against welcoming Red China to the UN. In Rwanda, the Taiwan agricultural mission is about to help the local farmers to reclaim 1,000 hectares of land for rice, sugar cane, soybeans, and other crops. Rwanda voted against bringing Red China to the U.N. In Sierra Leone, the Taiwan Chinese are busy promoting land reclamation and oyster growing. Sierra Leone voted against seating Red China. In Niger, Cameroon, Upper Volta, Chad, Togo, Malawi, Madagascar, and the Congo (Kinshasha), Taiwan farm missions have been busy expanding the local rice culture. All of these African nations expressed their gratitude by voting against Red China at the UN. Of the African nations which have had help from Taiwan, only Senegal followed the lead of de Gaulle's France in the UN voting. Libya, which has been taught by Taiwan how to grow rice next door to the Sahara Desert, abstained from the voting, presumably out of deference to other Arab nations.

The Taiwan Chinese are practical diplomats. If the "newly emergent nations" prefer the Taiwan Chinese to the Peking Chinese, shouldn't that be good enough for the very practical George Romney?

NEW YORK (AP) — Soon after the New Year, Everett H. Hinton, a 66-year-old resident of Sun City, Ariz., interrupts the retirement he worked decades for in order to handle the problems of some strangers in far-off Cyprus.

As payment for uprooting himself from the serenity of retirement, Hinton and his wife will receive a daily living allowance, exposure to a foreign culture and the satisfaction of helping others. Nothing more.

Hinton, who spent 27 years with Montgomery Ward and on retirement was manager of merchandising and purchasing in New York, will lend his knowledge and advice to a Cypriot drygoods wholesaler and retailer.

The job, to last about three months, will cost the wholesaler about $1,000 a month, but Hinton will get none of it. Instead it will go to the International Executive Service Corps, which made the arrangements.

The corps, which most people know as the Executive Peace Corps or by the even more familiar term of Paunch Corps, already has completed 361 foreign assistance projects in less than three years and is expanding steadily.

In addition, 90 projects are under way, 69 are about to begin and many more are now being arranged in communications between Madison Avenue headquarters and private enterprises in 40 foreign nations.

All this has been accomplished on an annual budget of about $2 million, 40 per cent of which is donated by American corporations or received in service fees, and 60 per cent of which comes from the U.S. government.

"We feel we run a tight ship," said a spokesman for the corps, which is staffed by highly experienced personnel, headed by President Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and former chairman of General Dynamics.

A skills bank of 3,500 names is now maintained and added to as the result of personal applications, recommendations and —Is the requesting firm willing to pay a fee for assistance, a fee which amounts to only a small percentage of what would be charged by a private consultant, were he available?

—Is the client firm sound enough to profit from the help and advice?

—Will the firm's success be of probable benefit not only to itself but to the free enterprise system of its country?

Most of the requests came originally from Latin America. While interest there remains high, based on the number of requests through November, expansion in the Middle and Far East has been strong, and requests from African companies now are coming in.

Circleville's annual Toy Hour, sponsored by American Legion's drum and bugle corp, netted two truckloads of toys and $164.50 in cash.

Steele Produce Co. had opened a new retail sales department at the E. Franklin St. plant.

Circleville Police Chief William F. McCrady, declaring his recent suspension by Mayor Ed Amey illegal, returned to duty with one week to go of his 15-day suspension period. "Unless I'm overruled by the commission," Amey declared, "McCrady is still suspended and is not on duty as the chief of police."

Top winners in Circleville's 1952 Christmas hometrimming contest were Montford Kirkwood of 110 Collins Court and Don D. Henkle, 443 E. Mound St.

Circleville's huge Christmas present — a new home the city was building for a family left homeless in a fire, was to be ready for occupancy by Christmas. Talmer Wise formed the project of building a new home for the Montford Pollock family, who were burned out. Local workmen donated their time and talents to complete the gift for Christmas.

James R. Lytle, 601 N. Pickaway St., was offered a Junior Membership Award by the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers. Notification of the honor came as a result of his high rating in a state test given for professional engineers and surveyors.

A refusal by City Council to grant pay raises to the police force and firemen brought a possible four vacancies to the police force. A request for interested persons to take a civil service exam was not likely to supply enough men to come up to required strength.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Lots of Husbands Are Faithful

DEAR ABBY: I suspected my husband of being untrue to me, so I went to a lawyer about a separation or divorce. My husband denies any unfaithfulness and he wants us back together again. (We have children.)

My lawyer told me that every man is untrue to his wife at one time or another, and my husband is no exception. He said the more trusting a wife is, the better it is for her husband. It makes cheating easier.

Is this true Abby? I just can't believe it. My husband is a good father, and he said he was happy with me in every way. My lawyer says I have two choices. Go back to my husband for the children's sake and put up with his cheating or divorce him and raise my children alone. Please say something to help me. I love my husband but I am so confused.

M IN FLA.

DEAR M: There are plenty of faithful married men and your husband could be one of them. The only thing you can be sure of is that your lawyer cheats on his wife. Give your husband another chance.

DEAR ABBY: I work, and make a pretty good salary. The guy I go with is still in college, and he gets an allowance, which is almost as much as my salary, but he never seems to have any money. I am always helping him out with money for gas, cigaretts and movies. If he would ask me for a regular "loan" and pay me back, I wouldn't mind, but he always says he left his money in his other pants. He's real groovy otherwise and I really dig this guy. How should I handle it?

DIGS HIM

DEAR DIGS: If you give him any more money, you left your brains in your other head. Lend him bus fare and tell this groovy guy to go home and get his wallet.

DEAR ABBY: I am 60 and my wife is a little older. In our younger years, unfortunately I was too busy making a living to learn how to play cards. My complaint is that my wife goes out with a group of ladies who have been her lifelong friends and they play cards on the average of twice a week.

I have no objections to that except sometimes she doesn't get home until 1 o'clock in the morning. In the meantime I sit alone. She takes the car and picks up some of the others, and at her age her reflexes could be slowing down and if she gets into an accident, that is all I need.

She says it is her "diversion." I say, "Why can't we do something together for diversion?"

She thinks I'm selfish. Well, if worrying about her is selfish, then I'm selfish. Please print this with your answer, but don't use my name or town. I will be governed by your advice.

DEAR SELFISH: Are you honestly worried about your wife? Or are you a little jealous because her "diversion" does not include you? Don't expect your wife to give up her card playing after all these years. Occupy yourself on those nights, and you won't be so lonely, resentful, and worried.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "T and J": Wehn I said, "You marriage has little chance to succeed," I didn't necessarily mean it would probably end in divorce. There are many marriages today that are utter failures, who undissolved.

NEW YORK (AP) — With steel price increases spreading, President Johnson this past week called on industry and labor to hold the line on prices and wages.

He didn't mention the steel-makers specifically, but it seemed obvious that their latest round of selective price increases had prompted his appeal.

U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 producer, started the price ball rolling last Friday with a $5-a-ton increase on cold-rolled sheet, which is used heavily in the manufacture of automobiles and appliances.

Other major producers went along. Some later announced boosts of $5 a ton on galvanized and aluminum coated sheets.

Johnson made his appeal for restraint on price and wage increases at a meeting of the Business Council, an organization of top business executives who advise him on the economy.

"I am urging business to refrain from avoidable price increases and to intensify its competitive efforts," he said. "I intend to urge labor to restrain its demands for excessive wage increases."

The President said further: "If strong labor unions insist on a high wage rise twice the nationwide increase in output per man hour—even where there is no real labor shortage—we are bound to have rising prices."

"If members of an industry attempt to raise prices and profit margins—even when they clearly have excess capacity—we are bound to have rising prices."

"Nobody benefits from a wages-price spiral." Prices went up this past week on other fronts.

Higbie Manufacturing Co. and Bundy Corp., major makers of metal tubing for the automotive and appliance industries, raised their prices by 3.5 to 5.5 per cent.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., the nation's largest glassmaker, announced a 6 per cent across the board increase on its sheet glass prices.

The three companies said the raises were due to higher costs of labor and materials. Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported that new factory orders increased during October for the first time in four months and that the backlog of unfilled orders reached a record $81.6 billion.

New orders rose 0.5 of 1 per cent to $45.5 billion while shipments declined to $44.4 billion, thus adding $1.1 billion to the backlog.

Automobile production this past week was estimated at 199,300 passenger cars, compared with 197,168 last week and 197,513 a year earlier.

A news blackout was clamped on negotiations between the United Auto Workers Union and General Motors. This indicated the start of serious bargaining against a Dec. 14 target date for reaching a national agreement.

Steel production last week dipped 0.1 per cent to 2,763,000 tons from 2,767,000 tons the previous week.

Formica Workers Go on Strike
CINCINNATI (AP)—Some 1,500 employees of two Formica Corp. plants went on strike early today, climaxing a year that has seen a series of work stoppages in Cincinnati.

Local 757 of the International Union of Electrical Workers struck the Formica plants in a contract dispute. An eight-hour bargaining session broke up Saturday without any agreement.

The Formica plants are in the Winton Place section and in suburban Evendale.

Mrs. Reagan Says Ronnie Won't Run

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Ronald Reagan, wife of the California governor, said Saturday night her husband is not going to run for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I don't see how you could want it (the presidency) for anybody you loved. I feel terribly sorry for anybody in the office," she told a news conference at Port Columbus Airport.

Mrs. Reagan substituted for her husband at a private fund raising dinner for the Ohio Republican Party Saturday night. Reagan canceled his appearance here to remain in California because of recent riots at San Francisco State College.

The President said further: "If strong labor unions insist on a high wage rise twice the nationwide increase in output per man hour—even where there is no real labor shortage—we are bound to have rising prices."

Fragrance Gifts Please Everyone for Christmas

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Questions, questions, questions. They keep cropping up as Christmas approaches: What size does she take? Which color would he like? Does he have a desk pen? Would she like a candy dish or does she already have a dozen?

Unless you know a person well enough to be positive about his preference, size (where clothing is concerned) or needs, gift-shopping can be a staggering job. It can be, that is, unless you take the surefire route to success and select a cosmetic gift.

There is something — And something special — for everyone at the cosmetic counter, a present to please because it's a luxury item even though the cost may be minor. When it comes to gifts, my own definition of luxury is this: Something you'd think twice about buying for yourself because it's not a true necessity. And this, right away, makes it a great gift.

At the cosmetic counter, there's a goody for everyone. For men: marvelous new aftershave lotions and colognes in containers that have masculine appeal; travel kits; even treatment aids including creams and lotions.

For little men there are hair slickums and soaps in packages that are sporty or suitably boyish.

For big girls, take your choice — compacts, lovely lipstick cases, atomizers, fragrance combinations of all kinds. And the same is virtually true for little girls. Children's lines feature all the glamour goodies so dear to the heart of a feminine youngster — hand care kits, dusting powder with fluffy puffs, fancy hand mirrors, flower fresh perfumes.

On all counts, the cosmetic counter is a good source of gifts in all price ranges from modest up to magnificent.

Methodist WSCS Holds Annual Christmas Meet

Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met recently in the social rooms of the church for its annual Christmas carry-in dinner.

One hundred members and guests were seated at tables which each Circle had decorated using the Christmas theme.

Mrs. Herbert Southard, president, welcomed the ladies and reminded them to support the needy family project sponsored by the WSCS. She also urged attendance at the Christmas Eve Candlelight service in the church.

Mrs. Robert Mills, program chairman, introduced those participating in the entertainment for the evening. Mrs. Larry Graham, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Wachs at the piano opened the program by singing "Go Tell it on the Mountain." Mrs. Mills read the Christmas story as presented in the Book of Luke.

Three appropriate readings were given. Miss Marie Hamilton read, "Greater Than Kings and Parliaments." "If I Had Been a Shepherd Boy," was read by Carol Kraft and Mrs. Robert Johnson concluded with "The Light of the World Is Jesus." The program was interspersed with the group singing carols.

Each Circle presented its Christmas offering to be dedicated by hanging an original ornament containing the money on the large Christmas tree.

Q. What's the name of this cut of meat?

A. Fresh ham or leg of pork roll. Shown here is one cut in half.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. It comes from the leg section. It's boneless, shaped and tied. The coloring of the lean is characteristic of fresh pork, that is, pinkish gray, with a firm and fine texture. Most people are familiar with the cured ham cut, but this fresh cut is seen more often than formerly in markets.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting since it's a tender cut. This pork cut, like cuts from the pork loin, is roasted to an internal temperature of 170° F. as measured by the roast meat thermometer. It may be cooked on a rotisserie or it may be roasted on a rack, in an open shallow pan. Oven temperature should read 350° F. for roasting the fresh half leg or ham, 325° F. for the larger whole leg; allow 35 to 40 minutes per pound for roasting either cut.

Flash Fire Kills 3 Persons In Philadelphia Frat House

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "It was like everything was soaked with gas . . . A wave of flame came across the ceiling and the whole place went up."

That was how collegian Lance Kollmer, 19, of Deerfield, Ill., described the way a fire turned decorations at a pre-Christmas college fraternity dance into an inferno, killing three persons Sunday.

Terror Still Klan Tool, HUAC Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan continues to use terror as a tool to achieve white supremacy and remains "a vehicle of death, destruction and fear," says the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Summarizing a two-year investigation in a 371-page report, the committee said Klans "operate—today as in the past—as conspiracies to deprive certain citizens of rights guaranteed by the Constitution."

"Klans moreover have continued to rely on terrorism as an instrument for achieving so-called white supremacy and other objectives," the committee said.

"Klan involvement in kidnappings, beatings, arson, bombings and outright murder in recent years compels the committee to view a Klan as a vehicle for death, destruction and fear."

The committee said 16,810 Klansmen were members of 14 Klan groups operating in 18 states with the heaviest membership in the United Klans of America headed by Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala. The report traces the history of the Klan and lists the 714 individual units, or Klaverns, it found in operation. The total includes 56 women's auxiliaries.

Price of Kiss Up in Britain

LONDON (AP) — The price of a Christmas kiss is going up in Britain.

Devaluation of the pound has increased the price of imported French mistletoe 6 cents a bunch, a London wholesaler said today.

Akron Resident Dies in Blaze

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Arthur Bertsch, 57, was found dead Sunday in the bathroom of his burning home.

The fire started in a davenport on the first floor, and firemen said the cause was unknown.

Nine others at the Delta Tau Delta house party in the heart of the University of Pennsylvania campus were injured—mostly from jumping for their lives from second-story windows.

Five firemen also suffered minor injuries fighting the blaze which swept through the three-story brick and stone building.

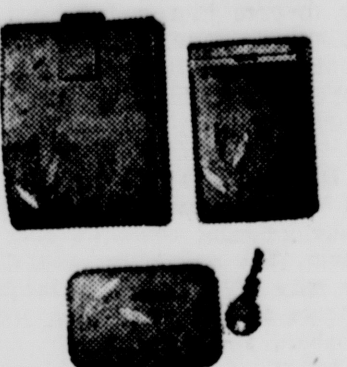

Fraternity members said about 100 men and their dates were at the party earlier. Kollmer was among a score of partygoers staying until the last minute before girls' curfew at 2 a.m. He was in the room where the blaze broke out in a 14-foot snowman made of chicken wire stuffed with paper.

Other decorations at the party included "snow tunnel" made of sheets that blocked the front door. The walls of the living room, too, were covered with sheets, carrying out a snowtime motif traditional with the annual party that preceded exam week.

The victims—all of them trapped on the second floor when flames enveloped the only stairwell—were Joseph J. Growchowski, 19, a Penn sophomore, of Franklinville, N.J., Kent D. Smith, 20, also a sophomore, of Wilmington, Del., and Susan Sagerdorph 17, of Philadelphia, a guest of one of the fraternity members.

Fire officials said a spark from a cigarette may have started the blaze.

Mrs. Kennedy Aids Demo Fund-Raising

Attends Dinner; First Appearance Since JFK Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, in her first political appearance since the 1963 assassination of her husband, took most of the spotlight Sunday night at a New York State Democratic dinner.

One of her rivals for attention was Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who is campaigning in opposition to President Johnson for the 1968 presidential nomination.

McCarthy was one of a score of senators and six governors to welcome Mrs. Kennedy to the $500-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the Plaza Hotel.

After the roast beef dinner, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., took note of the presence, along with himself, of his sister-in-law, his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and his brother-in-law, Stephen Smith, husband of Jean Kennedy, by telling the 500 guests: "Welcome to the Kennedy Christmas party."

The senator added: "And now may I introduce the evening's guest of honor, Mrs. John F. Kennedy."

Mrs. Kennedy clad in a black minidress trimmed with sequins at the neckline, pockets and cuffs, stood up—and so did everyone else at dinner, to applaud the presidential widow.

There were no speeches at the affair, held to help the financially ailing Democratic state party, but there were introductions of some prominent guests and a word of thanks from Robert Kennedy.

The dinner proceeds were expected to put some $200,000 toward the state party's more than $300,000 debt.

After-dinner entertainment was provided by comedian Alan King and singer Tony Bennett.

Rusk in Europe for Atom Talks

BRUSSELS (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today took on the task of overcoming West German and Italian opposition to the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

Rusk arrived Sunday night for the semiannual meeting of the North Atlantic Council, the policy body of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The NATO chiefs of staff were meeting, today, and Rusk planned a round of talks with West European leaders.

The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed on a nuclear treaty except for the section on how to inspect peaceful nuclear industry to see that no uranium or plutonium is diverted to make weapons.

West Germany says inspection by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), which the Soviet Union insists on, would destroy the authority of a body laboriously built up by West European allies, the European Atomic Energy Community, better known as EURATOM, a branch of the Common Market.

The Italians agree. They are worried that nuclear industry will prefer to go to France, where there is no likelihood of IAEA inspection.

On the Communist side objections have been heard from Romania—the maverick in the Eastern bloc.

Cleveland Utility Firm To Expand

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.'s plans for a $350-million expansion program is drawing praise from civic and business leaders.

"This action is undoubtedly predicated not only on residential needs but on continued dynamic industrial growth in the area," said Thomas F. Patton, chairman and president of Republic Steel Corp.

Mayor Carl B. Stokes said he was "greatly excited and gratified" by the big expansion plans.

American diplomats have come up with several proposals for "marrying" IAEA inspection to the system that Euratom has developed. At least one of these compromises may satisfy Moscow, but Bonn has not bought any yet.

WE'RE GETTING OUT OF TOWN

... 'CAUSE MOM'S GOT A NEW FLAME!

All the relatives are talking. For the first time in years, the whole family is leaving town on a well-earned vacation . . . thanks to Mom's new flame. (A hard working, good-looking, clean-cut type. Really sweet-talked Mom. Even convinced Dad.)

Mom's new flame is her new Gas furnace. And this dependable new Gas furnace is slashing those heating bills to about one-third the cost of the electric heating they had in their old house. Gas heat is saving Dad up to several hundred dollars each year in heating bills. And with that kind of money saved . . . live a little! After all, that modern Gas furnace will save more money next year . . . and more money the year after that . . . and the year after that . . .

Modern Gas heat not only warms the house, it warms the heart. It's a breath of clean, fresh air circulating throughout the house—including the basement.

All this at about one-third the cost of heating with electricity. In just a few years you'll save enough to send someone to college. Think of all the things you can do with the money you save with Gas!

Mrs. Kennedy Aids Demo Fund-Raising

Attends Dinner; First Appearance Since JFK Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, in her first political appearance since the 1963 assassination of her husband, took most of the spotlight Sunday night at a New York State Democratic dinner.

One of her rivals for attention was Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who is campaigning in opposition to President Johnson for the 1968 presidential nomination.

McCarthy was one of a score of senators and six governors to welcome Mrs. Kennedy to the $500-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the Plaza Hotel.

After the roast beef dinner, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., took note of the presence, along with himself, of his sister-in-law; his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and his brother-in-law, Stephen Smith, husband of Jean Kennedy, by telling the 500 guests: "Welcome to the Kennedy Christmas party."

The senator added: "And now may I introduce the evening's guest of honor, Mrs. John F. Kennedy."

Mrs. Kennedy clad in a black minidress trimmed with sequins at the neckline, pockets and cuffs, stood up—and so did everyone else at dinner, to applaud the presidential widow.

There were no speeches at the affair, held to help the financially ailing Democratic state party, but there were introductions of some prominent guests and a word of thanks from Robert Kennedy.

The dinner proceeds were expected to put some $200,000 toward the state party's more than $300,000 debt.

After-dinner entertainment was provided by comedian Alan King and singer Tony Bennett.

Rusk in Europe for Atom Talks

BRUSSELS (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today took on the task of overcoming West German and Italian opposition to the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

Rusk arrived Sunday night for the semiannual meeting of the North Atlantic Council, the policy body of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The NATO chiefs of staff were meeting, today, and Rusk planned a round of talks with West European leaders.

The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed on a nuclear treaty except for the section on how to inspect peaceful nuclear industry to see that no uranium or plutonium is diverted to make weapons.

West Germany says inspection by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), which the Soviet Union insists on, would destroy the authority of a body laboriously built up by West European allies, the European Atomic Energy Community, better known as EURATOM, a branch of the Common Market.

The Italians agree. They are worried that nuclear industry will prefer to go to France, where there is no likelihood of IAEA inspection.

On the Communist side objections have been heard from Romania—the maverick in the Eastern bloc.

Cleveland Utility Firm To Expand

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.'s plans for a $350-million expansion program is drawing praise from civic and business leaders.

"This action is undoubtedly predicated not only on residential needs but on continued dynamic industrial growth in the area," said Thomas F. Patton, chairman and president of Republic Steel Corp.

Mayor Carl B. Stokes said he was "greatly excited and gratified" by the big expansion plans.

American diplomats have come up with several proposals for "marrying" IAEA inspection to the system that Euratom has developed. At least one of these compromises may satisfy Moscow, but Bonn has not bought any yet.

Ambitious River Program Examined

By ANN B. HELLMUTH
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A $6 million project at eight Great Lake ports will provide more water for river traffic and may develop more usable land on beds of silt.

The program is aimed at keeping river channels navigable and controlling lake pollution from sediment.

Two dikes, part of the experimental program, are to be completed here next week by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The dikes, costing $1,397,000, are located between the shore and the breakwater off the northeast corner of Burke Lakefront Airport.

Constructed from limestone rock, they form the walls of two cribs—one closed, the other open—where dredging from the Cuyahoga River can be dumped.

The open-end crib is approximately 250 by 420 feet and the closed one 880 by 450 feet.

Frank Taylor, engineer in charge of construction, said dredgings will either be pumped from the open-end crib into the closed one, or dumped directly into the closed crib.

He said dredging from the river total about 1.3 million cubic yards a year—more than any other single Great Lakes port.

"Deciding the best way of disposing of the dredgings is quite a headache," Taylor added. "All the Great Lake ports are confronted with the same problem. We are testing various methods now to try and find the best solution."

He said sediment from the spring dredgings will be dumped into the cribs.

"It is possible that the area could be turned into usable land," Taylor said. "This has been done in Toledo and Buffalo, N. Y."

The Corps of Engineers also is carrying out experiments at Green Bay, Wis.; Calumet River Chicago; Buffalo; Toledo; Sodus Bay near Rochester, N.Y.; and River Rouge, Detroit.

Engineers expect the Cleveland dike walls eventually to seal themselves and the crib to be filled in about a year.

Every year 10 million tons of polluted muck is dredged from 108 sites on the great Lakes. About 60 per cent is dredged from Lake Erie.

The Department of the Interior contends that sediment is a serious detriment to the Great Lakes. It points out that the sediments contain not only eroded soil, but also quantities of decaying organic matter, bacteria, industrial wastes and algae-stimulating chemicals released in the effluents of sewage plants.

The department also maintains that present dredging methods allow polluted runoff waters from dredging to seep into lake waters, even when enclosed in a dike. Wherever harbors are polluted — and at least 31 lakes harbors are polluted — dumping methods are now considered unsatisfactory.

To help devise and consider ways of controlling pollution the departments of Army and Interior began a pilot study in February of dredging operations and how they affected water quality.

A five-man board of consultants had been formed to study the problem.

In Toledo, the board has proposed giving dredgings a thorough chemical treatment while in transit to a dumping area.

The Toledo board may also consider filling near-shore lands or abandoned quarries with treated sediment.

Xenia Man Slays Wife, Kills Self

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—A Xenia man went to the nursing home where his estranged wife worked Sunday to try to talk her into reconciliation. Less than an hour later, both were dead.

Witnesses told police that Harry Myers, 46, and his 43-year-old wife, Hazel, argued about a half hour, then Myers pulled a pistol, shot his wife in the face and chest and himself in the head. Both were pronounced dead at Greene Memorial Hospital.

Police said Myers had held his wife hostage in their son's home about a year ago, but gave himself up to police after his son pleaded with him.

Employees at the Francis Nursing Home, where Mrs. Myers was a nurse, said the couple had separated about a month ago.

Tigers Lose 6th Straight Game to Reynoldsburg

The Circleville Tigers saw a first half lead dwindle away, dropping their sixth straight game tilt, 56-52, Saturday to host Reynoldsburg.

The Tigers got off to a fast start, leading 13-6 after the opening period. They stretched the lead to 12 points after the second canto, 29-17.

In the third period, the Raiders began to click, scoring 20 markers while Circleville was held to nine. The Tigers were still on top, however, 38-37.

Reynoldsburg outscored the Tigers by five points in the final period to win by four.

THE Tigers were completely out-hustled in the second half. They committed only one personal foul during the first half.

Clemente Top NL Batsman; Gonzalez 2nd

CINCINNATI (AP) — You've still got to hit singles—and a lot of them—if you want to win the National League's batting championships.

The league's official 1967 batting records bear this out. Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates won the crown for the fourth time with a .357 batting average. His "singles average" was a lot higher than that—.713.

Clemente went to bat 585 times to accumulate the best hitting average of his 13-year major league career. He collected a total of 209 hits and drove in 110 runs—second only to Orlando Cepeda's 111. Clemente's hits included 150 singles, 26 doubles, 10 triples and 23 home runs.

In fact, only one of the top six batters came up with a "singles average" of less than .700, and home run king Henry Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, who hit 39 homers and 105 singles, wound up in a seventh-place tie with Richie Allen of Philadelphia. Both batted .307 for the season.

The top six batters, with their batting averages and "singles averages" (in parentheses) were:

Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh, .357 (.713); Tony Gonzalez, Philadelphia, .339 (.744); Matty Alou, Pittsburgh, .338 (.839); Curt Flood, St. Louis, .335 (.825); Rusty Staub, .333 (.709) and Orlando Cepeda, St. Louis, .325 (.661).

Aaron, with his 39 home runs, still accumulated a "singles average" of .570 and drove in 109 runs for third place in that department. It was his fourth home run crown.

The Atlanta outfielder also tied Lou Brock of St. Louis for the most runs scored with 113. Noone came near Brock's total of 52 stolen bases—or the 18 times he was caught stealing.

Maurice Wills of the Pirates hit more singles than anybody else—162—and tied the league record by leading in that category four times. His final batting average of .302 put him in a tie for ninth place and his "singles average" was .871.

Braves Defeat Knights, 84-54 was the leading scorer in the game with 21 points. He canned 10 of 18 field goal attempts and made his only shot from the foul line in accumulating his total.

Other double figure performances for Logan Elm included 15 by Royce Woolever and ten by Mike Helwagen. Woolever canned six of 13 shots at the net and six of 13 shots from the field charity stripe. Helwagen converted five of ten field goal attempts.

Logan Elm eagers netted 17 of 36 shots from the field in the first half for a 48 per cent average. In the second half they made 21 of 43 shots for a 49 per cent accuracy rate.

At the foul line they made eight of 15 attempts.

The St. Al Blue Knights hit nine of 24 in the first half for a 37 per cent average and 11 of 33 in the second for a 33 per cent average. They made 14 of 31 free throw attempts.

The Blue Knights had 16 turnovers in the game. Logan Elm had 18 turnovers.

THE Braves dominated the boards, pulling down a total of 40 rebounds. The Blue Knights had 26 rebounds in the game.

Eagles Deal Scrutinized

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Will the real owner of the Philadelphia Eagles' football team please stand up?

For the next day or so at least, financially-troubled builder-sportsman Jerry Wolman is the owner of the National Football League franchise — on paper and in practice.

But when the 40-year-old Wolman signs a $14.5 million deal — probably Wednesday — with a group headed by Norman S. Raab, a clothing manufacturer, he is expected to become a mere figurehead.

Technically, he won't be selling the Eagles. He'll be attempting to borrow his way out of a financial crisis in other business interests brought on by "a tight money market," according to Wolman.

Of the $14.5 million, $2.5 million will be the actual sale of some 30 per cent of club stock. The rest will be a three-year loan secured by the balance of the Eagles' stock.

Greenfield, Hillsboro Win Saturday Night Cage Games

Greenfield and Hillsboro won Saturday night games while Miami Trace and Circleville were tagged with losses.

The McClain Tigers stopped Columbus Mohawk, 77-65, in a game played in the tiny Greenfield gymnasium. The winners trailed, 17-16, at the end of the first period, but bounced to a 36-28 halftime edge and never trailed.

Harris To Fight Miguel Barreto

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Unbeaten Gypsy Joe Harris, boxing's latest eccentric, takes off his mink bow tie and mink cufflinks and dons his flaming red trunks and red shoes tonight in a bid for his 23rd straight victory.

Harris is slated to go 10 rounds against Miguel Barreto, of Puerto Rico, in a fight Gypsy's manager says is a prelude to a welterweight title shot at champion Curtis Cokes in Dallas next month.

Tigers Lose 6th Straight Game to Reynoldsburg

The Circleville Tigers saw a first half lead dwindle away, dropping their sixth straight game tilt, 56-52, Saturday to host Reynoldsburg.

The Tigers got off to a fast start, leading 13-6 after the opening period. They stretched the lead to 12 points after the second canto, 29-17.

In the third period, the Raiders began to click, scoring 20 markers while Circleville was held to nine. The Tigers were still on top, however, 38-37.

Reynoldsburg outscored the Tigers by five points in the final period to win by four.

The Tigers were completely out-husted in the second half. They committed only one personal foul during the first half.

Clemente Top NL Batsman; Gonzalez 2nd

CINCINNATI (AP) — You've still got to hit singles—and a lot of them—if you want to win the National League's batting championships.

The league's official 1967 batting records bear this out. Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates won the crown for the fourth time with a .357 batting average. His "singles average" was a lot higher than that—.713.

Clemente went to bat 585 times to accumulate the best hitting average of his 13-year major league career. He collected a total of 209 hits and drove in 110 runs—second only to Orlando Cepeda's 111. Clemente's hits included 150 singles, 26 doubles, 10 triples and 23 home runs.

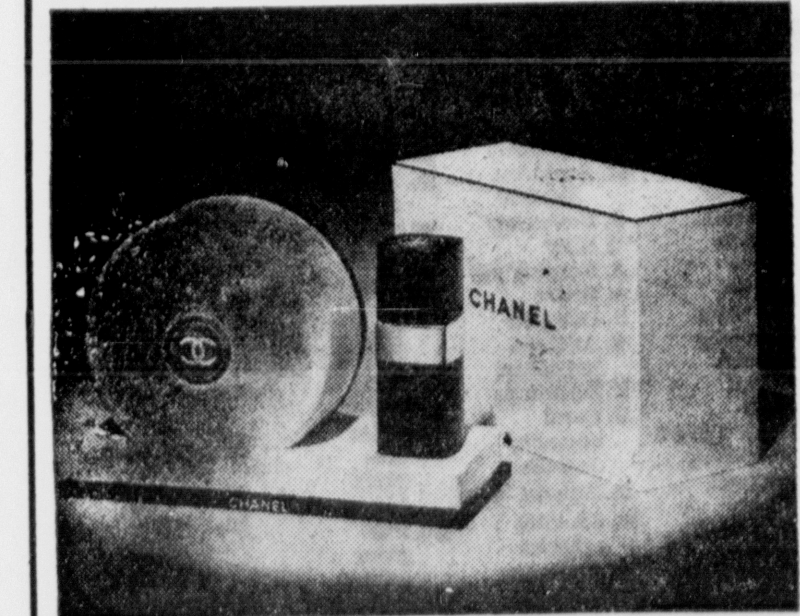

In fact, only one of the top six batters came up with a "singles average" of less than .700, and home run king Henry Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, who hit 39 homers and 105 singles, wound up in a seventh-place tie with Richie Allen of Philadelphia. Both batted .307 for the season.

The top six batters, with their batting averages and "singles averages" (in parentheses) were: Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh, .357 (.713); Tony Gonzalez, Philadelphia, .339 (.744); Matty Alou, Pittsburgh, .338 (.839); Curt Flood, St. Louis, .335 (.825); Rusty Staub, .333 (.709) and Orlando Cepeda, St. Louis, .325 (.661).

Aaron, with his 39 home runs, still accumulated a "singles average" of .570 and drove in 109 runs for third place in that department. It was his fourth home run crown.

The Atlanta outfielder also tied Lou Brock of St. Louis for the most runs scored with 113. Noone came near Brock's total of 52 stolen bases—or the 18 times he was caught stealing. Maury Wills of the Pirates hit more singles than anybody else—162—and tied the league record by leading in that category four times. His final batting average of .302 put him in a tie for ninth place and his "singles average" was .871.

In the 138-pound class, Craig Dresback lost to Crawford of Central by a fall and to Spetnegel of Pleasant View by a fall.

Mark Ralston lost both of his matches in the 154-pound class, 8-6 to McClure of Central and 8-5 to Johnson of Pleasant View. Bill Gates, wrestling in the 165-pound class, lost to Bishop of Central, 6-5, and pinned Shaffer of Pleasant View in 56 seconds of the first period.

Bob Dean was defeated by McGowan, 4-0, in the 175-pound class and was pinned by Wolfe of Pleasant View.

Browns Clinch Century Title, 20-16

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Houston, Cleveland's 245-pound super-thief, has picked the lock to the Century throne-room, leaving only one divisional battle still raging in the National Football League—the Coastal war between Baltimore's unbeaten Colts and Los Angeles' relentless Rams.

Linebacker Houston intercepted a fourth-quarter pass Sunday and lumbered 18 yards for the decisive touchdown as the Browns clinched the Century Division crown with a 20-16 victory over St. Louis.

A week ago, Houston's 79-yard scoring run with another pass theft put the wraps on a 24-14 victory over New York that eliminated the Giants from the Century race.

While the Browns joined Green Bay's Central champs and Dallas' Capitol kings in the NFL semifinal playoff bracket, the Colts whipped New Orleans 30-10, running their unbeaten string to 13 games and setting up next Sunday's Coastal showdown with Los Angeles.

The Rams stayed alive Saturday by blocking a Green Bay punt in the final minute and scoring with 34 seconds to play for a 27-24 nod over the Packers. They tied the Colts in an earlier meeting and are one game off the pace going into the finale in title-frantic Los Angeles.

In Sunday's other NFL games, Dallas drubbed Philadelphia 38-17; San Francisco outscored Atlanta 34-28; Detroit smacked New York 30-7; Washington edged Pittsburgh 15-10 and Chicago and Minnesota played to a 10-10 deadlock.

The Browns led 13-9 when Houston, a rugged, eight-year pro, batted a Jim Hart pass into the air, grabbed the ball on the fly and raced across untouched. Those six points stood up for Cleveland despite Hart's 15-yard TD pass to Jackie Smith late in the period. A desperate 41-yard pitch from Hart to Smith carried to the Browns' 18 as time ran out.

Frank Ryan's 38-yard scoring pass to Paul Warfield and two field goals by Lou Groza offset three three-pointers by St. Louis' Jim Bakken before Houston came up with the big play for the Browns.

The Colts rolled to their 11th victory—they have tied two—despite a sub-par performance by quarterback Johnny Unitas, who completed 10 of 24 passes for 148 yards and failed to connect for a touchdown.

Baltimore's tough defense set up short scoring thrusts by Tony Loric, Tom Matte and Jerry Hill, however, and Lou Michaels booted three field goals as the Colts continued their drive to become the first NFL team to go without a loss since the 1942 Chicago Bears.

Most Major Ohio Cage Teams Lose to Opponents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Down-to-the-wire battles were featured in Ohio college basketball action Saturday night, but only Bowling Green among the major schools was successful.
The Falcons of the Mid-American Conference held on to defeat perennial power St. Joseph's, 76-73, in the closing seconds at Philadelphia.

Another MAC school, Toledo, lost an overtime thriller to St. Bonaventure, 94-93. Xavier, an independent, lost out to Detroit, 85-84, as the final buzzer sounded.

On the other hand, Ohio State had an easy time, rolling over South Dakota 97-54. It was the Buckeyes' third victory in as many games.

A couple of Indiana schools belted Ohio University and Kent State. The Ohio Bobcats took an 89-63 drubbing from Indiana as the Hoosiers shot at a .559 clip.
Kent State was an easy victim for Indiana State, which won its first home game of the season, 91-66. Indiana State led only 51-42 at halftime, but turned it into a rout in the second half.

Kenyon and Ohio Wesleyan appear to be the teams to watch in the Ohio Conference as both won their third straight. Kenyon, behind strong rebounding and 5-9 John Rinka's 28 points, whipped defending conference champion Baldwin-Wallace, 84-69.

Ohio Wesleyan, getting 23 points each from Chip Rosser and Dave Eyrich, roared back from a halftime deficit to defeat Denison, 85-70.

At Toledo, Bill Butler scored four points in the overtime to lead the Bonnies past the Rockets. St. Bonaventure's Jim Satalin sent the game into the extra period, hitting a 25-foot jumper with only one second showing to tie it at the end of the regulation 85 - all. The Rockets got 25 points from John Brisker and 19 from Steve Mix.

Ohio State, backed by 26 points from Bill Hosket, poured it on early against the hapless Coyotes, who are still looking for a victory after five games. Akron registered its third victory, downing Marietta 64 - 55. The Zips got 20 points each from Jerry Sloan and Dave Leatherman. Bob Moore produced 23 points in leading Central State to an 83-70 victory over Wooster.

Youngstown (2 - 1) dropped Muskingum, 96-72, leaving the Muskies still without a victory in three starts. Steubenville fell at the hands of Philadelphia Textile, 89-66, and Wittenberg dropped its second game in the Crusader Classic at Valparaiso, Ind., losing to Carthage of Illinois, 74-67.

Tampa disposed of Mount Union 80 - 70; Findlay routed Cedarville 103-88; Ashland turned back Winnebago Capital 58-50; Heidelberg won over Oberlin 79-46; Eastern Michigan defeated Cland State 92-75, and Bluffton beat Wilmington 82-73.

In the others, Defiance bombed Malone 102-70; Thiel beat John Carroll 75-67; Villa Madonna crushed Walsh 101 - 65; Washington & Jefferson routed Adelbert 106 - 82; Bethany of West Virginia put six men in double figures to beat Case Tech 104-70, and Urbana beat St. Marys of Columbus 106-73.

UCLA Rolls Over Iowa, 121-80

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Johnny Wooden didn't say so, but he may have been thinking of Houston.

"Although I feel the Bruins would win over any opponent in a series of games on a neutral court," said the coach of top-ranked and unbeaten UCLA, "I know quite well the hazards that often befall visiting teams and the possibility of good teams coming up with great nights."

Wooden's juggernaut rolled over Iowa State 121-80 Saturday night, making the Cyclones their 37th consecutive victim and third this year. And it left Iowa State Coach Glen Anderson shaking his head in bewilderment.

"They're the finest college basketball team I've ever seen," he said.

Lew Alcindor tossed in 45 points and five other Bruins scored in double figures.

Houston, ranked No. 2 in the national scored its fourth straight victory, beating Illinois 54-46 at Champaign with Elvin Hayes scoring 25 points.

Houston and UCLA meet Jan. 20 in the Astrodome, a game that could set a college basketball attendance record.

UCLA is idle this week, while Houston plays in its own Bluebonnet Classic Wednesday and Thursday. The Cougars' first round opponent is George Washington.

While UCLA and Houston rolled along as expected, three other members of the Top Ten suffered upsets in Saturday action. No. 3 Louisville and No. 4 Kansas were upset in a double-header at Chicago while No. 5 North Carolina lost to eighth-ranked Vanderbilt 89-76 at Nashville, Tenn.

Chicago Loyola tumbled Kansas 83-73 and unheralded Northwestern stunned Louisville 88-83 in the Chicago doubleheader.

All other top ten teams in action won, No. 7 Purdue rebounding from a Friday defeat by Washington and beating the same team 84-77. Rick Mount scored 30 points for the winners.

Kentucky, No. 9, playing at home, pushed its record to 4-0 with a 64-49 triumph over Penn while No. 10 Boston College beat Connecticut 76-70 on the road.

UCLA Rolls Over Iowa, 121-80

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Johnny Wooden didn't say so, but he may have been thinking of Houston.

"Although I feel the Bruins would win over any opponent in a series of games on a neutral court," said the coach of top-ranked and unbeaten UCLA, "I know quite well the hazards that often befall visiting teams and the possibility of good teams coming up with great nights."

Wooden's juggernaut rolled over Iowa State 121-80 Saturday night, making the Cyclones their 37th consecutive victim and third this year. And it left Iowa State Coach Glen Anderson shaking his head in bewilderment.

"They're the finest college basketball team I've ever seen," he said.

Lew Alcindor tossed in 45 points and five other Bruins scored in double figures.

Houston, ranked No. 2 in the national scored its fourth straight victory, beating Illinois 54-46 at Champaign with Elvin Hayes scoring 25 points.

Houston and UCLA meet Jan. 20 in the Astrodome, a game that could set a college basketball attendance record.

UCLA is idle this week, while Houston plays in its own Bluebonnet Classic Wednesday and Thursday. The Cougars' first round opponent is George Washington.

While UCLA and Houston rolled along as expected, three other members of the Top Ten suffered upsets in Saturday action. No. 3 Louisville and No. 4 Kansas were upset in a double-header at Chicago while No. 5 North Carolina lost to eighth-ranked Vanderbilt 89-76 at Nashville, Tenn.

Chicago Loyola tumbled Kansas 83-73 and unheralded Northwestern stunned Louisville 88-83 in the Chicago doubleheader.

All other top ten teams in action won. No. 7 Purdue rebounding from a Friday defeat by Washington and beating the same team 84-77. Rick Mount scored 30 points for the winners.

Kentucky, No. 9, playing at home, pushed its record to 4-0 with a 64-49 triumph over Penn while No. 10 Boston College beat Connecticut 76-70 on the road.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

State auditor's report on Pickaway County offices, boards and commissions was released recently by County Prosecutor Robert Huffer.

Duties of the state auditors include inspecting the books, actions and reports of public county organizations and making necessary recommendations for improvements and reports of irregularities.

State auditor's reports through Dec. 1965 are as follows.

County Treasury
An irregularity in the transfer of $18,405.87 from the bond retirement fund to the general fund for use in capital improvement was noted.

The transfer of funds was reported as lawful in a memo from Prosecutor Huffer to the County Commissioners, but was declared illegal under a section of the Ohio Revised Code by the auditor since the transfer did not have the approval of the Court of Common Pleas.

Agriculture Society
Treasurers of the Pickaway County Agriculture Society did not furnish bond for themselves as required by law.

The minutes and notes of official actions were also considered inadequate by the auditors, as were the financial records.

Rap Treatment Of Protesters
CINCINNATI (AP)—Sixteen members of Cincinnati's religious and university communities have sent the city manager a letter criticizing "intemperate treatment given the draft protesters last week."

Eight-six persons, many of them Antioch College students, were arrested last Thursday after an attempted mass sit-in at the Armed Forces Induction Center. Nine of them are serving workhouse terms and most of the others are free on bail totaling $55,000 posted by private interests.

The letter, signed by clergymen and faculty members at the University of Cincinnati, Xavier University and Hebrew College, state that "The police, the courts and the city administration have indulged themselves in a most unfortunate series of over-reactions, treating people who were engaged in nonviolent civil disobedience as though they were hardened criminals."

Various receipts and expenditures were not posted to the cash book the day they were received, but were instead allowed to accumulate till the end of the year before recording.

The cash journal was found not to have been balanced with the depository for the entire four years covered by the examination.

Law Library
Financial records of the law library were found to consist only of a cash book, stubs and deposit books. The auditors suggested that the library association purchase a ledger for the treasurer.

The minute record and record of business actions was found to have been well kept.

County Board of Health
The manner of accounting for sewage permits, trailer park licenses, vending machine licenses and food service permits was found "to leave a great deal to be desired."

Board minutes and records were found to have been well maintained.

Berger Hospital
An error was found in the hospital's financial records of approximately $300 due to a failure to show interest paid on the hospital's bank deposits.

Official receipts, checks and vouchers were spot checked and found to be in "excellent" condition.

County Welfare Department
Records of the proceedings of the County Welfare Board were found to be exceptionally vague with the records of Jan. 1962 to 1963 missing.

Financial records were found to be contrary to good fiscal practice. Receipts are not issued nor is a cash book maintained by the office.

Bonds for public employees of the Children's Home have never been signed or certified.

Records of operations of the county school for retarded children were found to be inadequate.

Board of Visitors
Records of the Probate Court show that the Board of Visitors failed to make reports for three straight years; 1963, '64 and '65. The state audit does not include checks of more recent actions of the board.

Dog Warden
Weekly reports and all of the departments actions were found to be correctly conducted.

County Home
County Home records for the period up to 1965, when the home closed, were found to be in correct condition and without mistakes. Such action is commendable as records of an organization that has closed usually contain several irregularities.

Soldier's Relief Commission
Minutes and records of the commission were found to be neat, complete and in order.

Budget Commission
Proceedings of the board were clear and presented in detail. All actions and records of the board were found to be in order.

County Auditor
The ledgers and records of the county auditor's office were found to have been kept in excellent shape. Office procedure in handling vouchers was found to have "diligently complied" with the law.

Test checks were run through the office and were correctly handled.

Coroner
All official acts of the coroner's office were properly filed, but the bonds on office personnel had not been certified by the prosecuting attorney.

Prosecuting Attorney
All financial transactions and records of the attorney's office were found to be neatly and well kept.

Board of Elections
A spot check of records and proceedings of the Board of Elections indicated that its actions were all proper and as prescribed by law. Records and minutes were neat and current.

Court of Common Pleas
House financial action of the Court of Common Pleas were recorded and conducted in an orderly and proper manner.

County Recorder
Bonds of the officials were found on file and properly recorded, but not signed by the prosecutor as required.

Cashbooks were of required form and were found to have been kept in a neat and accurate manner. The recorder complied with statutory requirements relative to filing and recording public records.

Engineer's Office
It was suggested that the county engineer's office maintain a duplicate receipt book.

Records and files of the office were found to be current and correct.

Sheriff's Office
Jail records and financial reports of this office were found to be correct and in proper form.

An irregularity was noted in the bond for public employees posted by the sheriff. The bond was not endorsed by the prosecuting attorney.

Clerk of Courts
Bonds and records of the office of the Clerk of Courts were found to be in order. Files and financial books were neat and properly kept.

Juvenile Court
Cashbooks and records on file were recorded by the auditor's office as being "neat, accurate and current."

Probate Court
Examination of Probate Court indicated that the various records required to be maintained by statute and the rules of the department are being maintained.

A test check of cashbook, dockets and other records disclosed no error of consequence.

All-new Mercury Montego has 4 extra inches of riding comfort in every 2-door hardtop.

Three competitive car lines fall considerably short of Montego this year. As the chart shows, they give you 4 inches less wheelbase. Less rear passenger room. Less trunk space.

Montego doesn't think you want to be sold this short. Besides, we're solidly committed to the Fine Car Touch inspired by the Lincoln Continental. Which means giving you more.

We think you'll prefer Montego's 116-inch wheelbase for its extra riding comfort and Cougar handling excitement. Six of you can pile in without feeling like a crowd. And there's a trunk that's at least 20% bigger than our competitors'.

Mercury's got it! Come see the new Montego while your Mercury dealer's in a "catch-up" mood.
